

REBECCA

I believe that every child is unique, as an educator I will respect and nurture the child's individual strengths, interests, and abilities.

I am very committed in providing a safe and supportive environment that empowers the children to become the leaders in their own learning, and encourage them to explore all the different avenues of interests they have.

I believe every child is born curious and it is important to me to provide opportunities of open-ended play, and activities that encourage movement, creativity and imagination.

I strongly believe that having a respectful and reciprocal relationship with the children's whanau/family is important, as it is the building blocks for a settled and confident child.

I am honoured to be apart of the children's learning journey.
