

JULIA

I believe that children are unique in their knowing of themselves, and can guide themselves into scenarios which ultimately facilitate their growth. I trust the child's instinct and offer guidance and care when and where I can.

I wish to empower children to feel comfortable in the mind bodies and spirits, and I hope to set an example of integrity and respect for all beings.

I believe relationships with the entire family is key to the health of early childhood schooling, and I look forward to creating these essential bonds with the entire Akoranga family.
